WHY SUPPORT?

NATHAN HARMON RETURNS - HELP US REACH MORE STUDENTS

Because of sponsors like you, more students will hear a message of hope, discover available resources, and be reminded that they are never alone.

Breaking the Silence: Voices of Hope is a community evening that brings local community members together to share their lived experiences and inspire others through powerful messages of hope, healing, and resilience. The event also connects attendees with local mental health resources and reminds our community that no one has to face life's challenges alone.

Following the incredible response to his keynote presentation at Breaking the Silence 2025, Nathan Harmon is returning this year to focus on reaching students directly in local schools during Suicide Prevention Week. Through engaging school presentations, Nathan will speak with students about mental health, resilience, making positive choices, overcoming challenges, and the importance of asking for help.

Cassidy Joined for Hope has committed to bringing Nathan back to our local schools and is actively seeking sponsors to help fund and expand these presentations. The more sponsorship support we receive, the more schools Nathan can visit and the more students we can reach with a life-saving message of hope.
